

Caregiver Tip
Brought To You By
The Dighton Council On Aging

Living Wills - What Every Caregiver Should Know

An advanced care directive, commonly known as a living will is something everyone should have. It is a legal document that states specific directives regarding medical treatments that must be followed by caregivers or the person appointed power of attorney for healthcare decisions if the person is unable to give informed consent. A living will ensures that their wishes are carried out.

The Seniors Law Project of the Southeastern Massachusetts Legal Assistance Corporation can help you.
For more information please call (508) 676-6265 or (800) 287-3777